Altrad Investment Authority S.A.S.

February 5, 2026

This report does not constitute a rating action.

Altrad Investment Authority S.A.S. performed well in fiscal 2025 (ended Aug. 31, 2025) despite the uncertain macroeconomic environment. The company posted revenue of €5.9 billion, above our expectation of €5.8 billion. Results were boosted by the industrial services division, which performed particularly well, while the equipment division saw mixed performance. S&P Global Ratings-adjusted EBITDA reached €658 million, with an 11.1% margin over revenue, up 30 basis points over the fiscal 2024 figure and in line with our expectations. This was despite €66 million of exceptional costs that we account for in our adjusted figure. Working capital inflows of €57 million and contained capital expenditure of €167 million supported strong free operating cash flow (FOCF) of €351 million in fiscal 2025. All in all, the solid operating performance drove S&P Global Ratings-adjusted debt to EBITDA down to 2.3x from 2.5x, and funds from operations (FFO) to debt to 32%, up from 30% one year earlier.

We expect Altrad to remain resilient in fiscal 2026. We forecast 3% organic growth, as most of the group's end sectors continue to show resilience apart from European chemicals' clients. In addition, its industrial services division had a €6 billion backlog to work on at the end of fiscal 2025. We anticipate stable adjusted EBITDA margins of 11%. Cash flow generation in fiscal 2026 may be hit by an installment relating to a settlement with the French tax authorities, the amount of which is not yet agreed. We still expect comfortable FOCF generation of €273 million in fiscal 2026, a reduction in adjusted debt to EBITDA to 2x, and stable FFO to debt of 33%.

The financial policy supports the current rating. Altrad paid a €165 million dividend in August 2025 and €183 million in September 2025 to fund the final repayment of a vendor loan taken by a holding of founder Mohed Altrad in 2023 to buy back shares from some minority investors. From this year, we expect a regular dividend of €60 million. This will free up some capacity for Altrad to accelerate its merger and acquisition (M&A) policy, although our assumption of €130 million yearly spend is unchanged. Nevertheless, we understand Altrad is committed to the current rating level and would accommodate its financial policy as such.

Ratings Score Snapshot

Recent Research

Research Update: Altrad Investment Authority S.A.S. And Its Senior Unsecured Bonds Rated 'BBB-'; Outlook Stable, June 23, 2026

Company Description

Altrad, headquartered in Montpellier, France, is a leading industrial services provider and equipment manufacturer in terms of market shares where it operates. With its industrial services division, it mainly serves the oil and gas, energy, power generation, process, environment, and construction sectors. Its equipment division manufactures, hires, and sells products for the construction and building markets.

Altrad's EBITDA By Division In Fiscal 2025

In fiscal 2025, Altrad generated 41% of its revenue in the U.K. and the Nordics, 32% in continental Europe, 12% in the Middle East and Caspian region, 10% in Asia-Pacific, 2% in Africa, 2% in the Americas, and 1% in Asia.

The company generated €5.9 billion in revenue and €658 million in adjusted EBITDA in fiscal 2025 (running from Sept.1, 2024 to Aug. 31, 2025).

Altrad's largest owner is its founder and chairman Mohed Altrad, who owns 96.95% of voting rights through holding companies. The remainder (3.05%) is owned by financial investors Arkea Capital and Tikehau Capital.

Outlook

The stable outlook reflects our expectation that Altrad's leading market positions in the multi-technical services market will support organic revenue growth of 3% per year in fiscal years 2026 and 2027 and adjusted EBITDA margins of about 11%. If the group could accelerate its M&A policy, we expect it will maintain S&P Global Ratings-adjusted debt to EBITDA below 3x and FFO to debt above 30%, on a weighted-average basis.

Downside scenario

We could lower the rating if:

- Altrad's credit metrics deteriorate markedly such that adjusted FFO to adjusted debt falls persistently below 30%.
- The company's adjusted debt to EBITDA approaches 3x on a sustained basis.
- We see a notable deterioration of the company's profitability profile and ability to generate sound FOCF, namely FOCF to debt declining to below 15% on a sustained basis.

This could result from large debt-funded acquisitions, higher-than-expected shareholder returns, internal control failures, or a sharp decline in business performance fueling lower margins and revenue growth, notably due to a severe and prolonged economic recession.

Upside scenario

We could raise the rating if Altrad tightens its financial policy to maintain credit metrics commensurate with our modest financial risk category. These metrics include:

- Adjusted FFO to debt above 45%;
- Adjusted debt to EBITDA of less than 2x on a sustained basis; and
- FOCF to debt improving to about 25%.

We believe this would be in line with company-reported debt to EBITDA of below 1.5x, excluding the one-off impact of the potential tax liability.

We could also take a positive rating action if Altrad significantly increases its scale and geographical diversification, alongside higher profitability. We see this scenario as less likely over the next 24 months.
